Up until now, derogations have been granted to individual Member States to stop this type of fraud in the affected sectors, but the procedure for granting derogations is not flexible enough to ensure a prompt and suitable reaction. The proposed new mechanism for adopting derogatory measures - quick reaction mechanism - would considerably increase the speed to deal with these problems. Its ultimate objective is to counter massive fraud schemes before they start having a considerable impact on national budgets

2012/AGRI/012	Agriculture et développement rural	Report on the risk of carbon leakage for agriculture	AGRI	octobre 2012	Traité sur le fonctionnement de l'Union européenne: Art. 43			The revised Energy Taxation Directive proposes a harmonised CO2 tax on all sectors, while exempting industries participating in the EU emission trading scheme and proposing a tax credit to those sectors recognised to be subject to a significant risk for carbon leakage. The Commission has adopted a Decision (2009) which lists the carbon leakage sectors. Agriculture could also benefit from the same reduction in CO2 tax liability if evidence is provided about its carbon leakage risk. So far no formal assessment of this risk has been made. However, considering the exposure of EU agriculture to global competition, it is reasonable to assume that such a risk exists and is significant (cf COM(2011) 112). The report will analyse the carbon leakage risk by following to the possible extent the methodology already established by the Commission.

On 27/11/2009 Ukrainian authorities sent a letter to the Commission requesting a Euratom loan to finance the nuclear safety upgrade of all the nuclear units in Ukraine. This upgrade is in line with the MoU signed in 2005 between the EU and Ukraine. Consequently we estimate that a decision on a Euratom loan to Ukraine could be feasible in 2010.

2011/ECFIN/024	Affaires économiques et monétaires	Agreement between the European Atomic Energy Community and the European Investment Bank on Cooperation in Respect of Financing of Nuclear Power Projects within the European Union.	ECFIN	4ème trimestre 2012	Traité sur l'Union européenne: European Community Treaty: Council Decision 77/270/Euratom of 29 March 1977 empowers the Commission to contract, on behalf of Euratom borrowings, the proceeds of which will be allocated in the form of loans to finance, within the European Union, investment projects relating to the industrial production of electricity in nuclear power stations and to industrial installations in the nuclear fuel cycle.			The cooperation between Euratom and the EIB in the Euratom lending context provides in essence that, in order to ensure a homogeneous treatment of the loan applications, the EIB will appraise Euratom loans according to its usual banking practices and using the same economic, financial and technical criteria applicable to EIB loans. The terms of the EIB-Euratom cooperation were initially set out in Council guidelines. Implementing rules for the cooperation have thus far been set out in exchanges of letters by the Commission and the EIB. Euratom and EIB deem it appropriate that the arrangements for cooperation between themselves in respect of potential financing of nuclear power projects within the European Union be updated and consolidated in a single document.
